About the Rarebit Animation Festival

The Rarebit Animation Festival takes its name from Dream of the Rarebit Fiend, the innovative and often surreal comic strip by one-time Sheepshead Bay resident Winsor McCay (c.1867-1934). Perhaps best known for his popular strip Little Nemo in Slumberland, McCay was a pioneer in the art of animation--his cartoon Gertie the Dinosaur (1914) was one of the very first animated films ever created. The Kingsborough Art Museum is proud to remember the legacy of this important American cartoonist and animator through the Rarebit Animation Festival.
